Vinoaqua-therapy Castello del Sole

Even in the ancient world people recognised the powerful effect of the grape, and wine was used for therapeutic purposes. Today's vinotherapy however has its roots in 17th century France. Grape skin baths were used to treat sciatica, arthritis and similar complaints. In 1991, Frenchman Serge Renaud managed to prove the effect of vinotherapy scientifically. The active ingredients and fatty acids of the grape seed oil have an extremely positive effect on health: cell aging, cell regeneration, protection from free radicals, activating and stimulating to the skin. Based on grape seeds, grape skin and the leaves of the grape, are sourced from the hotel's own vineyards, the "Terreni alla Maggia"
